“Virtual classrooms prove that distance is never a barrier to learning.” at FPLS, Sakoli

Guided by this inspiring thought, Future Podar Learn School, Sakoli successfully promoted online classes during an unexpected school break caused by heavy rainfall.

In response to the adverse weather conditions, the District Authorities mandated the sudden closure of schools to ensure the safety and well-being of students and staff. This unforeseen interruption posed a challenge to the continuity of regular teaching and learning activities. However, at FPLS, we believe that challenges present opportunities for innovation. To prevent any learning gaps and to maintain academic momentum, the school promptly transitioned to online learning. This proactive step allowed students to stay connected with their studies, engage with their teachers, and continue their education safely from home.

This initiative once again reinforced our belief that with the right tools, mindset, and adaptability, learning never stops—even in the face of adversity.
